

China Environment and Health (CEH) Resource Hub

The CEH Resource Hub is a comprehensive web-based database that houses information on individuals and institutions working on environment and health in China, as well as bibliographic resources. Among other database content are EHP articles that have been translated into Chinese either for publication in EHP Chinese Edition or specifically for inclusion in the CEH Resource Hub. The hub, a project of the Social Science Research Council, enables researchers, policy makers, and practitioners to search for information about research and activities on specific issues and to present their own work.

Annals of Alquds Medicine (AAM)

AAM, a Palestinian medical journal, has recently begun translating selected EHP news articles into Arabic.